

Statement of Purpose

I was born in a land that is home to many great artists and talents of the past and the present, who are still looked up to in today's time. It is a land that has been complimented over and over again for its diversity, art, music, culture, and heritage. Therefore, I believe it is quite common to find an individual like me, who too has been inspired by the diversity in all its true sense.

My family happens to have been closely knitted to film and art and that was where I believe it all started. I have grown up watching my parents working for the Media Industry and was convinced that I too, would follow in their steps and make a career in this industry of lights, camera, and action. However, as a little kid, it was too much for me to decide whether I wanted to be in front of the camera or behind it.

As I grew up and was introduced to more films, theatres, and plays, I became increasingly curious in regards to the prestige of the magic called film and cinema. However, I was more involved in art than I was in filmmaking— that is until I had to decide on my college course. When I decided to take up a major in Media Science for my graduation course, I was completely exposed to the ways of filmmaking. It awed me to conclude— I wanted to create this spectacular magic called film.

Since then, I have been working on various college projects, assisting my seniors and professors, and making my own little experiments. However, I do not believe in just one form of art, as for me, art is an entire universe of its own, with so many methods and techniques of expressions that a lifetime is not enough. I crave to indulge myself in various forms of it while discovering more while I am at it.

For me, filmmaking is one such method that I would like to learn more about and be proficient at. It is a form of expression that is unique in its own way and can illustrate so many things. All my experience, small and large throughout my life, has led me to this junction. I wish to immerse myself and learn from this amazing medium so that I can express, contribute and share my perspective for everyone to see.

In the last year of my college, I took an internship with The Little Lamb Films (a production based in Mumbai and known for its witty and creative commercials), playing the role of an Intern Assistant Director. Working with professionals who perform tirelessly and yet function like a well-oiled machine made me realize the amount of work it takes. But most importantly, it made me realize how much I love and want to be a part of it.

The reason why I am applying to [UNIVERSITY NAME] is that I believe this is where I will be able to receive what I need in order for me to learn my ways in this medium and get better at it. With its reputation, high-quality deliverance of education, and mentoring of its students, I am convinced that the institution will be able to help me learn and grow. I am hoping to be a part of this prestigious institution and gain some perspective in this medium that I so love and respect and hopefully will be successful in making films that leave a happy impression on people.
